City Manager Reports
Findings Regarding Central Heat

In a lengthy statement presented to city council, Wednesday night, regarding the proposal of The Dayton Power and Light Co. to provide heating units to patrons of central heat and abandon the central heating system here, City Manager W. W. Hill recommended that council accept the proposal.

Hill cited similar action in other cities where no heating units were offered to patrons of central heating plants and discussed the proposal generally.

It was indicated that council would issue a statement at the next meeting, regarding the abandonment of the central heat system here.

Hill's statement to council follows:

"You are, of course, familiar with the proposal of abandonment made to this body by the Dayton Power and Light Company on April 27th, 1949. If the customers refuse to consent to the conditions of the abandonment, it will then be necessary for the utility to file a petition to abandon with the Public Utilities Commission of this state. The burden is then upon the utility to establish to the satisfaction of that body that this heating service should be abandoned.

"In determining whether or not an order authorizing the abandonment should be granted, the commission will take into effect any loss in operation claimed by the utility. While loss standing alone is insufficient to justify abandonment, it is one of the items to be considered in connection therewith. A loss on a special service like this is not in and of itself conclusive, but must be considered with all the other factors bearing on the question. In determining the question of abandonment the period which the service has been in operation is another factor, which the commission would consider.

"The latest case of this type determined by the commission was the petition of the Ohio Power Company to abandon a similar service in Canton, Ohio. This service had been rendered for approximately 42 years, was not covered by a franchise and there was no municipal ordinance establishing rates to be charged for the service.

"The commission found that the steam heating plant was in such condition that ordinary repairs would not put it in such shape as would be necessary to provide reasonable safety and reliability of service. The commission also found that a considerable portion of the mains then in service were the mains originally laid and they had become so leaky that they were no longer suitable to continue operations.

"The commission also found that the utility had rendered the service at a loss for several years; that an independent survey had been made by the city of Canton and that as a result thereof the city decided not to take over the plant or try to rehabilitate it because the cost would be so extensive that any rate guaranteeing a reasonable return would be exorbitant.

"The commission, therefore, on December 30, 1948, authorized the utility to discontinue the service effective June 30, 1950. That case, of course, involved some elements which are not present in our situation. While the claim is made that at least a part of the local plant would have to be replaced or substantially repaired, no claim is made that the condition of the local plant is as bad as that in Canton."

"If the commission should refuse to authorize abandonment, this would mean that the service would have to be continued but the utility would, undoubtedly, seek substantially higher rates for the service, which, unless agreed to, would no doubt mean prolonged and expensive litigation. It seems to us, therefore, that this body can hardly afford to recommend to the consumers that they take the risk that the commission might order abandonment. On the other hand, it seems to us that this body should recommend to the consumers that they accept the proposal of the utility rather than take the risks of a refusal to do so. This recommendation is being made after a thorough consideration of both the law and the facts in this as in the similar cases herebefore mentioned."

"This means that this body will not only be notified of the hearing, but in good faith would be required to represent the municipality in opposition thereto. If the

YWCA Board Here Discusses Quota

Members of the YWCA Board met at the home of Mrs. Willard Perrill, president, in Bloomington, to discuss the financial quota set by the district board.

It was decided to send $75 and also pay the expenses of the girls sent to the Y-Teen camp this summer.

Jean Perrill, one of the girls sent to the camp, gave a talk on camp and studies.

A talk on the by-laws and purpose of the organization was given by Mrs. Willard Bitzer.

Mrs. Howard Wright, treasurer, reported on donations and contributions.

The next meeting of the board will be held in October.

County's Corn Crop

considerably short of private and unofficial forecasts. These had expected the department figure to top last year's big crop.

Feed For Livestock

The indicated crop would supply an over-abundance of livestock feed. It could spell much more plentiful—and cheaper—supplies of meats, eggs, poultry and milk through 1950 and into 1951.

But it also could bring headaches for farmers and the government. There is some doubt as to whether storage facilities are ample to handle such a crop, considering the fact record surplus from last year's crop is still on hand.

The corn forecast, if borne out, undoubtedly would lead the government to invoke rigid controls next year to keep surpluses of the grain from becoming any larger.

No decision on a control program is expected, however before fall.

The department said the total volume of crops this year is expected to be second only to 1948.

Developments during July resulted in declines for several important crops, including wheat, oats, barley, rye and flaxseed. But these were partly offset by improvements in other crops.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—(AP)—This government today digs in to finding what to do in a grand mess.

The mess is the Far East, where the Chinese Communists are taking over China.

This has been a great disaster for the United States since, between them, the Russian and Chinese Communists now control most of Asia.

Only last week the state department issued a "White Paper" which said:

1. This country has washed its hands of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists who were the only opposition the Communists had.

2. Since the Nationalists are no competition any more, the Chinese Communists can take over all China any time they wish.

Today an aged man, 73-year-old J. Leighton Stuart, flies into Washington with his head full of knowledge of China to give what advice he can.

He's American ambassador to China. Although he's had that job only since 1946, he's lived in China 45 years, mostly as an educator. He's an expert on China and its problems.

Secretary of State Acheson has created a special group to figure out what this country should do about the Far East, which includes China and the rest of Asia not in Communist hands.

This group is made up of three men: Philip C. Jessup, an ambassador - at - large; Dr. Everett Case, president of Colgate University; and Raymond B. Fosdick, president of the Rockefeller foundation.

Case, now in Europe, will arrive here next week. Fosdick arrived here yesterday. And he, Jessup and Stuart will start putting their heads together.

This group, or board, will have the assistance of the state, treasury and national defense departments, the Economic Cooperation Administration, the senate foreign relations committee and the house foreign affairs committee.

The problem of the United States is this:

With all China in the hands of the Chinese Communists, and with those Communists working with the Russian Communists, then—

Vital strategic areas now controlled by, or tied with, the United

Flurry of Requests From Typhoid 'Scare'

A case of typhoid fever in Greenfield recently caused a "scare" which had many people living near the victim requesting analyses of their water supply.

There is actually no good reason for the scare or the wholesale analyses of water supplies in this instance, according to Dr. Gordon E. Savage, Fayette County health commissioner, and Donald Lee Lange, sanitarian.

A half-dozen requests for analyses came to the Health Department here.

In connection with these and another series of requests, Dr. Savage said: "We have discovered that those people desiring the test are expecting a far more thorough analysis than is actually made."

It was explained that the water is analyzed by the state laboratory and there is no attempt to find typhoid or dysentery bacteria.

Instead, the test is made for the presence of coliform organisms and nitrate content. If the water contains the coliform organism, then there is immediate suspicion that it contains the germs causing typhoid fever and dysentery, since they are associated.

But, Dr. Savage added, "we feel it is useless to make a water analysis if those who have the test made are not willing to cooperate and correct any conditions which might be the cause of the contamination of the water supply."

Commenting on the conditions of contamination, Lange said that the majority of dug wells in this area were found to have a loose wood platform construction. This allows a ready leakage of surface water back into the well.

Dr. Savage recommended these precautions for a safe water supply:

1. The well should be on high ground, above the privy, pig pen or other place of contamination.

2. The well should be 100 feet from any privy unless the vault is 100 percent watertight.

3. The platform should be of concrete to prevent surface water from seeping into the well.

4. Dug wells should be gradually abandoned for drilled ones. "I question whether you can keep surface water out of a dug well," said Dr. Savage.

He added that the average water supply can be made safe by boiling or chlorination.

fever is relatively scarce in this area but pointed out that the picture could change quickly if a carrier of the disease brought it in from another area where it is more prevalent.

Street Improvements Here A Big Help

A much desired and long needed street improvement program which is costing Washington C. H. close to $50,000 as the city's share in this year's ambitious project, is being "squeezed" through without any increase in local tax rates.

This effort has required a lot of planning and a considerable amount of economizing in various ways in connection with the city's close run operating funds. However, it is an assured accomplishment for which the citizens of this community have reason to thank the officials of our city administration.

Perhaps too seldom is a good job of planning, economizing and actual "doing" by public officials given much thought by the average citizen. He takes a well done piece of work for granted. Only when some action displeases him does he literally howl. For that reason we believe that the street work being done by our city administration this year deserves commendation.

The entire cost of the street improvement project here this year is far above the amount the city has to pay. Federal and state financial help made it possible, but only foresight, aggressive action and hustling effort by local officials gained this result. The city administration long ago recognized what it would have to do and did a lot of advance spade work. It threw its weight into securing this program early enough to edge out some places which sought financial help but which did not "get under the wire" with self-help soon enough to qualify for state-federal appropriations before the money ear-marked by the state for such purpose was pledged and exhausted.

For example as to costs, the planned resurfacing and other improvements on Dayton and Clinton avenues, Court and North streets, also sections of Hinde and Market streets, will reach a total approximately between $75,000 and $100,000. Of this the city's share is close to $20,500 including engineering plans and specifications. This work is to start the first week in September.

The extensive reconstruction projects on Van Deman and Willard streets and Millwood Avenue also represent a large sum in which the city's share is a stiff amount, although a big share of the cost is financed by property assessments.

Another big improvement is the black-topping of many alleys which long have needed improvement where traffic is heavy. City Manager Hill says that this feature of the program is to continue as rapidly as possible until all important heavily traveled alleys are cared for.

In addition to this a heavy expense in street maintenance has been carried on. Other street improvements are in the planning stage and will receive attention as fast as the city can accumulate money to do the work.

Nothing gives a city a better rating among visitors, as well as with home people, as do improved streets. The city administration has worked diligently to make its limited funds stretch quite far. It deserves credit.

Family Created for Radio Serial

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—Carlton E. Morse is a pleasant, balding man of 48 who bakes his own bread.

He also eats steak and potatoes for breakfast—seven days a week—and believes he makes the best apple pie in America.

"It's an apple pie with pears in it—and a little dash of rum," he explained.

Morse is better known for his skill at the typewriter, however, than his skill with the skillet. Since 1929 he has turned out 20,000,000 words of radio drama.

His most durable breadwinner has been "One Man's Family," a weekly NBC half-hour program he has written, produced and directed for 18 continuous years. Morse believes this is a record for this type of dramatic serial.

The program tells the trials, tribulations and victories of an American family—Henry Barbour, a retired stockbroker, his wife, Fanny, and their offspring. It has gone on so long it makes "Abe's Irish Rose" and "Oklahoma" seem like one-night-stand tent shows.

"When I started there were only seven characters," and I'm in the third generation of the family."

He is proud that six of the seven actors who appeared on the first broadcast of the program still play their original roles. Members of the live cast have had a total of 22 children during the 18 years. Morse and his wife, Patricia, are childless.

"The program is really an idealization of my husband's own family," said Mrs. Morse. "His father and mother are a wonderful couple. They just celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary."

Morse rises every morning at 6:30 and cooks breakfast. By seven he is at his typewriter. He is a swift writer. By 9:30 he has finished his stint for the day. It takes him two mornings to write the weekly program, and his mythical family has grown so large he needs a chart now to keep the relations straight.

His listeners take the Barbour family very seriously. "Four years ago I killed off one of the characters in an auto accident," Morse said, "since death must come to every family. But hundreds of people wrote in and protested. Some said they would never listen to the program again."

Since then he has kept his characters alive and talking. They grow older as ordinary people do. One of his biggest problems came when all his characters were married.

"There was a little slump there," he admitted, "until the children grew up, and created some new love interest."

"My wife is the best critic of my writing. She can tell when I'm off the track better than anybody."

In his spare time Morse collects old silver and vintage wines. Food is his hobby. When he and his wife came here to prepare "One Man's Family" for television presentation this fall, they brought along their own pots and pans.

Morse has two bottles of 1865 Napoleon brandy in his West coast home. He doesn't know just what to do with the bottles, which cost $150 apiece.

"I keep them in a safe," he said. "Maybe if there's an occasion big enough I'd like to open one to celebrate. But the other one I don't think I'd ever want to open."

"But they're evaporating," smiled Mrs. Morse.

"Yes," sighed her husband. "About two teaspoonful every ten years."

Flaw In Our Political System

By George E. Sokolsky

Judge David Peck, of the Appellate Division in New York, and I were discussing New York politics between Beethoven and Liszt at Tanglewood.

And the judge said something that is so true: "Politics," he said, "is the art of the irrelative."

Of course, what he meant by politics was not the conduct of being elected. The former requires great knowledge, skill and statesmanship; the latter involves a series of deals, honest or dishonest, moral or indecent, to obtain a nomination and then to get elected. It is the latter process that often arouses such discouragement and disillusionment as to the democratic process in the United States.

For instance, in New York, where live 8,000,000 Americans, who so often regard themselves as so superior to the hicks from hinterland, the selection of a mayor is left to a few professional politicians, the direct primary ies amounting to nothing because the citizens do not care.

The Republican party has completely disappeared in a series of deals which produced its elimination. The shocking thing about it is that the old and distinguished Republican party had no candidate for mayor and could not find anyone suitable who was willing to run. When one is challenged to produce a name, he is usually stymied. It is a sad commentary on civic virtue.

Now what does a citizen do when the politicians hand him three names and say, pick one of the three? He looks at the names and then he thinks that the mayor of such a city handles a billion dollar budget, looks after the finances, police, the fire department, the health, education, sanitation and welfare of 8,000,000 people! He looks at the careers of these men and can find not one reason to believe that by education, training or experience one of them can be expected to do a reasonably competent job.

A good citizen, however, must vote in each election and pick the least unsatisfactory candidate. In fact, it has been suggested to me that I ought to vote for Newbold Morris because he is less objectionable than Bill O'Dwyer and Vito Marcantonio. On the other hand, it has been suggested to me that I ought to vote for Bill O'Dwyer, who has actually had four years of experience as mayor, while Newbold Morris and Vito Marcantonio have had none at all.

So there I am. If I don't vote, I am not a good citizen. If I do vote for men I do not respect or whom I have no confidence, I am not an honest man. Once I solved that problem this way: I would not vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt and I could not vote for Wendell Willkie. So I voted for Roger Babson. Many others that year voted for Norman Thomas. It is called a "protest vote." What good is a "protest vote?"

Of course, it is possible to go to the polls, perform the act of citizenship by voting for such lesser candidates as one can conscientiously vote for. That really means that the professional politician gets two votes; the one he controls and mine by negative action.

Maybe this sounds to you as much ado about nothing, but it is really very important. Our form of government is being criticized the world over, and even in our country, as wasteful, as bringing the worst elements in the population to the top, as failing in efficiency and competence. The most disgraceful thing about it is that it is a rule of self-selected, self-serving and self-perpetuating politicians who assume no responsibility to the people but manipulate the control of power.

Into this situation have moved racketeers, labor leaders, pressure group officials. It costs a fortune to be elected to any office. Candidates and their managers have to raise the money and where do you get money these days? The best place is the big labor unions with their huge reserves in strike funds educational funds and welfare funds which their leaders can spend at will and without detailed reports. So most candidates call themselves "liberals," and the deals are made accordingly. The rest of us have to take what comes out of this. Or do we?

Diet and Health First Aid Vital In Poison Cases

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SO long as childish curiosity endures and dangerous substances are used around the house, I am afraid we shall have cases of accidental poisoning. Every parent should have the knowledge to meet an emergency of this kind since first aid, quickly and properly administered, may be the means of saving a child's life or, in less desperate situations, prevent damage which would mean a permanent handicap.

One of the most common types of poisoning is that from preparations containing lye, such as cleaning solutions and washing powders.

Diluted Vinegar

In these cases the child should be given diluted vinegar or lemon juice at once. These acid substances will neutralize the alkali. Unfortunately, lye is very caustic and may often burn not only the mouth but the lining membrane of the esophagus as well. The esophagus is the tube leading from the mouth to the stomach. If it is severely damaged by the lye, scar tissue is likely to develop which will close the opening. Hence, immediate steps must be taken to keep such a condition from developing. This is done by passing through the esophagus a rubber tube filled with mercury. The size of the rubber tube is gradually increased, and this procedure is carried out over intervals of at least a year.

Another common type of poisoning is that from kerosene. In such cases, the stomach must be washed out by a physician. Then a quantity of olive oil or mineral oil is left in the stomach. Kerosene poisoning may produce damage to the liver, kidneys, lungs, and heart.

Sodium fluoride is another poison.

sonous substance which is found in insecticide powders. Should such poison be accidentally swallowed, the poison should be washed out immediately with a solution of calcium chloride or calcium lactate. Injections of calcium should also be given into a vein or muscle.

Every Four Hours

Poisoning may be caused by the ingestion or absorption of lead products through the skin. In treating such a condition, sodium citrate is given every four hours, together with calcium gluconate by mouth. Large doses of vitamin C are also important. The symptoms of lead poisoning include vomiting, loss of appetite, constipation, anemia or lessening of the amount of coloring in the blood, and there may be mental confusion or convulsions.

In urging parents to learn first-aid procedures to deal with such situations, I do not mean to suggest that they should ever attempt to handle them without a doctor's aid. He should be summoned at once but it is equally essential that they know what to do while waiting for him to arrive.

It goes without saying that parents should do all in their power to prevent such accidents by keeping poisonous substances out of the child's reach.

Dogs Not Rabid Report Shows

Two Children Had Been Bitten

The dogs who bit two children recently were shown not to have rabies, according to County Sanitarian Donald Lange.

One child was bitten at White Oak on August 3 and the other received a bite by a dog on Elm Street here on July 30.

Any dog suspected of having rabies and biting someone is kept in quarantine for two weeks since it takes that long to be certain that rabies is not present, said Lange.

The sanitarian explained that the dog gets rabies by a bite from a fox, skunk or another dog. It takes from eight to ten days for the virus to get to the dog's salivary glands. A person bitten before this time expires will not get rabies.

Fourteen days after having been bitten, the dog will start showing the symptoms of rabies, Lange said.

These are very obvious to anyone familiar with rabid conditions in animals and are of two types, he said.

One is an aggressive type of rabies. The animal will show a loss of appetite, desire to bite and fierceness.

The other type is dumb rabies. The dog's behavior in this type fits the name. He will be slow-moving and listless.

Rabies takes from 26 to 70 days, usually longer, to show itself in humans.

Here are a few rules to follow to prevent an infection from a dog bite:

1. Promote free bleeding. This helps even from the bite of a rabid dog.

2. Thorough and prolonged washing of the wound with warm water and soap, preferably tincture green soap.

3. Apply an antiseptic and put on a clean bandage.

Just one case of rabies has been reported so far this summer in the county.

He succumbed to starvation and exposure after being lost almost two weeks, the St. Vincent Hospital reported.

Girl's Trance Broken

Hypnotized into Sleep, She Lived in Daze For Six Weeks—Then Aroused by Telephone

CHELTHAM, Eng., Aug. 11—(AP)—Hypnotist Peter Casson put a group of people to sleep here July 28. He finally got the last one to wake up early Wednesday—by long distance phone from London.

Anyway, that's what 19-year-old Joyce Dovers and her mother say. The family doctor agrees with them.

Joyce went to sleep during a mass demonstration of Casson's powers at the Town Hall nearly two weeks ago. In a waking trance, she wandered away from the crowd. When Casson brought the rest back to their senses, she was on her way home, still in a dream.

The following day she collapsed at work. Then she went to a movie and passed out again. She took to swooning in the street when people spoke to her.

The family doctor decided she was still in a hypnotic state. He put in calls for Casson, who, by now, was playing in a music hall in London. By phone from 120 miles away Casson told the girl to fall into a sound sleep and wake up in five minutes.

At the end of the appointed time Joyce awoke, thanked Casson and told the doctor she felt fine. "This was a perfectly genuine case of hypnosis," said the doctor. "She was completely under Casson's influence and only he could put her right."

Champion Plowers Compete Aug. 16

Champion plowers of Fayette, Warren, Butler, Hamilton, Clermont, Brown, Highland and Clinton counties will compete for the district championship and a chance at the state title in the district plowing contest which will be held on the Wilmington College farm, near Wilmington, August 16.

The contest is a feature of the Wilmington College conservation field day, in which the 290 acre college farm will be "ravaged" and "conservationized" under the combined might of more than 70 tractor outfits and heavier power equipment.

The all-out demonstration to show the latest in farming and conservation techniques is being planned through the efforts of the farm agencies in Clinton County, in cooperation with Wilmington College, the Ohio State University, the Ohio State Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Burning Rubbish Prohibited Here

City Manager W. W. Hill, in response to many complaints of residents of the city burning rubbish and other material which gives off a dense smoke, calls attention to a city ordinance which prohibits the burning of all rubbish within the city limits.

Usually no objection is made where paper or other quick burning material is disposed of without obnoxious smoke, but where there is smoke of any consequence the burning definitely is prohibited by city ordinance, Hill said.

"Persons annoyed by smoke from burning refuse can call the police and an officer will be sent out without delay," Hill said in speaking of the smoke nuisance.

Mrs. Paul Pope
Is Hostess At
Luncheon Meeting

A good attendance of the members of the Twin Oaks Garden Club assembled at the home of Mrs. Paul Pope for a delicious covered dish luncheon on Wednesday preceding the regular August meeting.

The hostess' home throughout was decorated with bouquets of flowers, and those brought by members, which were later judged.

The hostess seated the group at one large and two smaller tables for the delicious meal and dainty corsages marked each cover as favors.

Following a congenial luncheon hour, a business meeting was held and was presided over by Mrs. Thomas Braden, club president. The secretary and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Harold Bonecutter, and an invitation was read from the Fayette Garden Club, to attend their flower show September 1. Mrs. Bonecutter was chosen as the new secretary and treasurer to fill the place of Mrs. Homer Wilson who recently resigned. Mrs. Dana Kellenberger was also chosen as press reporter for the coming year.

Amendments were made to the constitution and by-laws of the club for the coming year, and projects were discussed at length. Roll call was responded to with each member giving their favorite salad recipe. Judging of the flower arrangements contributed by the members was by popular vote, with Mrs. Everett Rife winning the trophy for the year. A picnic for members and families was planned in conjunction with the September meeting and will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Braden. The meeting was closed in the usual manner.

Mrs. Pope had as her assisting hostesses for the event, Mrs. Harold Bonecutter and Mrs. Keith Garringer.

Enjoy Luncheon
Preceding Meeting

The members of the Union Chapel WSCS met at Union Chapel Church on Wednesday for a covered dish luncheon preceding the regular August meeting with Mrs. Ebon Thomas, chairman of the arrangements for the luncheon. The delicious meal was served buffet fashion in the church basement at one long table. Following a most congenial lunch hour, the meeting was opened with devotionals in charge of Mrs. Thomas, build around the theme "Spreading His Light In Burma," opening with the hymn "Jesus Stands Among Us." Responsive reading and prayer was led by Rev. Guy Tucker, followed with three meditations, the first by Mrs. Thomas, the second by Mrs. Ernest Chaney and the third by Mrs. Clark Durlinger. Mrs. Jackson Rodgers read a story about a girl in India, and Mrs. Ross Johnson led in prayer to close the worship period. The subject of the devotionals was carried out in the program with "Burma Diary" being read by Mrs. Guy Tucker. "A Drive Through Rangoon" by Mrs. William Looker, "A Visit To The Country" by Rev. Tucker and "What Do Burmese Christians Talk About" by Mrs. Thomas closed the program. A short business session was presided over by Mrs. Thomas, president, during which roll call and the secretary's report was given by Mrs. William Looker. After discussions on old business and projects of the society the meeting was closed with the usual benediction. The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ebon Thomas.

Thomas Lute Honored

Mr. Thomas Lute was honored on his 72nd birthday anniversary at a family basket dinner held at Washington Park. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Conklin and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lute and daughter, Mr. Guy Vizzo, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Lee and sons of Xenia Mr. Fred Evans, Mrs. Rosie Penwell and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lute of this city. The honor guest received several gifts and cards.

Cheese will be hard and tough if it is cooked too long or at too high a temperature. When a dish containing cheese is baked in the oven it's a good idea to keep the temperature moderate. When a cheese combination is cooked on top of the range it should be put in a heavy saucepan and the heat kept very low, or put in a double boiler over hot, not boiling, water.

If you come home from a picnic with leftover sandwiches wrap them well in waxed paper or aluminum foil and store them in the refrigerator. The next day they can be grilled in a little butter or margarine and served with a salad as a luncheon dish. Or they can be toasted under the broiler and served with a cream, cheese or tomato sauce; choose the sauce that goes with the filling.

Certain products tend to make refrigerator desserts—such as ice creams or mousses or sherbets—smoother since they help to prevent the formation of large ice crystals. These are gelatin, corn syrup, evaporated or condensed milk, eggs and marshmallows.

A good way to use the liquid leftover from sweet pickles is to heat it to boiling point and then pour it over cooked, thinly sliced beets. The beets should be left in the liquid as they cool, and then refrigerated.

Have you ever noticed the date stamped on each carton of A&P eggs? It is put there to protect the quality and freshness of this perishable item.

An egg that is Grade A when it is inspected and packed could become Grade B or C by the time you buy it if it has been improperly or slowly handled.

We don't want that ever to happen to an A&P egg. That is why we put the date when the eggs are graded on each carton. Eggs not sold within a few days of that date are removed from sale even though they are still of good quality.

If you should ever find that any of our egg cartons bear old dates or that any eggs fail to live up to our high quality standards, please tell us about it. Please write:

Vegetable Supply Up, Prices Down

(By the Associated Press)
Fresh vegetables held the food spotlight this week as midsummer's bumper supplies pushed prices downward.

Meat, poultry, dairy products and other items on the housewife's shopping list held mostly unchanged price-wise.

However, higher wholesale and livestock quotations for pork promised higher pork retail prices soon. At mid-week, live hogs at the huge Chicago livestock market were at the highest price since last November—around $23.65 a hundred, compared with the year's low of $18.25 late in April.

Nearly all vegetables with the exception of top quality iceberg lettuce and carrots were lower this week. Lima and snap beans, peppers, cabbage, sweet potatoes, eggplant, tomatoes and celery led the produce items downward, along with soft fruits like peaches and pears.

Producer associations and trade groups designated this as national vegetable week and cooperated to promote the selling of fresh produce. And the U. S. agriculture department headlined onions, cabbage, lettuce and tomatoes on its national list of most-plentiful foods this week.

Only in the northeastern states, still feeling the effects of a drought earlier, were a few vegetables like asparagus and cauliflower selling at above-average prices.

Prospects of excessive supplies of fruit in coming weeks were causing growers and distributors increasing concern. Their associations were planning nationwide sales campaigns in a cooperative effort to increase fruit consumption. These were expected to stress fresh peaches and pears.

Glass Cut Story Doubled by Police

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 11—(AP)—A murder charge has been lodged against Mrs. Mary Corprew, who told police her husband died by knocking a drinking glass from her hand and then falling on its broken edges.

Police were told Mrs. Corprew, 38, stumbled against his wife, caused her to drop the glass, and fell on it. He died at Beth Israel Hospital Monday of a severed artery.

Police Lt. William Wagner said yesterday Mrs. Corprew had revised her statement, saying this time that she had smashed a glass against her husband's chest during a quarrel over his late hours.

Vampire Murderer Dies on Gallows

LONDON, Aug. 11—(AP)—John George Haigh, self-confessed vampire slayer of nine Britons, was hanged today.

The handsome, 39-year-old business executive was convicted July 19 of murdering a well-to-do widow, Mrs. Olivia Durand-Deacon, 69, for her money.

A jury rejected a defense plea of insanity and sentenced Haigh to death.

At his two-day trial, the prosecution introduced a statement in which Haigh confessed to police that he killed eight other persons besides Mrs. Durand-Deacon and drank their blood.

With the execution, Scotland Yard closed the record of England's most sensational murder case in years.

during the next two weeks, fresh prunes in early September, grapes in October, then apples, canned fruits and dried fruits in subsequent weeks.

The government's bureau of agricultural economics reported this week that retail prices for most of the fresh fruits and expected to decline more than seasonally this summer, and by fall should be lower than a year earlier.

"However, for both fresh and canned citrus, prices will continue substantially higher this summer than last," the report added. Citrus will continue in short supply until the new crop gains volume next fall.

Other price predictions by the bureau: Meat probably will decline seasonally this fall, but not as sharply as in the same months last year. Eggs probably will rise seasonally during the next few months, moving toward the peak generally reached in the last quarter of the year. Chicken and turkey are expected to be lower during the rest of the year in the comparable months of 1948. Simple reports of turkey hatchery activities indicate the number of turkeys hatched this year may be 60 percent above last year's level.

"Retail food prices in general may show little change from present levels until fall, when some decline is anticipated," the bureau concluded.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale price index this week advanced to $5.89 from $5.84 a week ago, but was 18 percent below the year-ago level of $7.18. This index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Apple Growers Seeking Workers

The Washington C. H. office of the Ohio State Employment Service is seeking workers to help apple growers harvest this year's expected bumper apple crop. Administrator Frank J. Collopy of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported Thursday.

Apple growers report they are preparing for what may be the largest Ohio apple crop in history. They indicate they may need several thousand extra pickers between September 5 and the middle of October. Some spot picking and harvesting of early apples has already begun.

Modern Skyscrapers To Be Made of Metal

By William G. Smock
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11—(AP)—Skyscrapers of the future may be made without stone, brick or mortar.

Aluminum and stainless steel manufacturers have developed all-metal "curtain walls" which can be used in place of traditional building materials.

Curtain walls are only three to six inches thick, with a resulting saving in floor space. They consist of relatively thin-gauge metal, backed by insulation, and furrowed to prevent blinding light reflections and to increase wind strength. Their use has been approved by underwriting laboratories and by many modernized building codes.

The new method already has been put to everyday use. The Aluminum Company of America, which first built a pilot plant of aluminum at Davenport, Ia., now is constructing a 30-story skyscraper office building in Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle.

The $10,000,000 Alcoa office building on Sixth Avenue will have exterior surfaces completely made of aluminum except for window panes.

Other pioneering in curtain wall construction has been done by the Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp., which furnished stainless steel panels for a four-story office building at the big General Electric Co. plant in Schenectady, N. Y.

Three to six-inch thick curtain walls compare with masonry walls of from 18 to 40 inches thick. Allegheny-Ludlum and Alcoa officials say there is no need for the thicker walls in steel framework buildings. They say the exterior surface is needed principally to keep the elements out and the occupants in. The walls do not hold up the building or make it strong.

Steel and aluminum men often are asked about danger from lightning, their answer is—there is no danger. Lightning frequently strikes tall buildings now but the steel framework carries the charge safely to the ground. Exactly the same thing happens in all-metal structure.

An architectural consultant for Allegheny-Ludlum contended thin walls permit a saving in space that amounts to as much as two-thirds of a square foot per lineal foot of exterior wall for every floor above street level.

He cited Rockefeller Plaza in New York as an example, declaring that if its walls were as thin as curtain walls, a total of 112,490 square feet could have been saved. At $4 per square foot, the saved space could have been rented for $450,000 a year.

Allegheny-Ludlum officials said curtain wall construction compared favorably in cost with masonry, adding: "It's generally accepted that masonry costs about $3 per square foot. We don't think that stainless steel and insulation will cost any more."

Alcoa officials claim curtain walls made of aluminum, backed by four inches of cement insulation, won't cost as much as masonry.

These other advantages are

Uncle Sam Sends Initial Check For Hospital

County Treasurer Charles A. Fabb is in receipt of a check from the Federal Government for $54,616.04 as the government's first payment of its portion of the cost of building the Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

The check represents approximately one-fourth of the $210,000 which is to come from the government under the one-third payment proposal.

The money will be used to pay contractors as the work progresses, and later on subsequent checks will be received for the government's remaining portion of the cost.

As the work progresses on the building, a second check will be forwarded by the government.

claimed for curtain walls made of either stainless steel or aluminum:

1. Speed of erection. Panels of three to four feet wide and up to 24 feet long can be bolted to the framework with insulation much faster than bricks can be laid one-by-one.

2. Scaffolding is eliminated with its dangers, costs and high insurance rates. Instead, panels can be erected at the rate of about half a floor a day from within.

3. No danger of collapsing aged walls. Experts have said uncounted chunks of crumbling masonry and overhanging stone work are in danger of toppling into the streets of every American city.

4. Construction work can proceed regardless of freezing weather, which often delays progress on the traditional type of building.

Beer barrels made of stainless chromium-nickel steel last about 20 years, compared with about six years for wooden barrels.

Circleville Is Weary of Noise

Crackdown on Trucks Is Launched

Circleville officials have grown weary of the unnecessary noise made by motor vehicles, and the police have started warning drivers of heavy trucks that they must reduce the noise of their vehicles or face prosecution.

Notices are being passed out to drivers of the massive vehicles that August 25 is the deadline, and after that the crack-down on noise begins.

Police Chief William McCrady said the notices will effect farm vehicles as well as the tractor-trailer operators.

"In fact the warning will be for everyone, whether they drive a truck, a passenger car, or motorcycle, and August 25 is the deadline. After that, they'd better have mufflers or else", is the way Chief McCrady sizes up the situation.

No parking signs also are being erected in alleys, in the business district of Circleville.

Cattle and Sheep To Be Exhibited

O. W. House, well known Fayette County Shorthorn cattle breeder, G. B. Vance and Great-hopes Farm, Suffolk sheep breeders, have made entries for the Ohio State Fair which opens August 27.

House has entered 11 head of cattle for the fair; Vance eight sheep, and Greathopes Farm, 10 sheep.

Vaughn Bentley, Sabina R. 2, will exhibit 15 head of Duroc hogs, and Dale Smith, South Solon, R. 1, will exhibit Hampshire swine in both junior and senior divisions.

Riding Club Formed Here and Plans Laid For Many Activities

A growing interest—or, more to the point, a revival of interest—in horseback riding here today has blossomed out with the formation of the Washington C. H. Riding Club.

Several preliminary meetings of those with most enthusiasm have been held. Starting with only a few, each succeeding meeting had more in attendance than the one before.

At the last one, the loose-knit club was formed with 16 charter members. The membership is about equally divided between residents of Washington C. H. and residents of rural Fayette County.

Officers were chosen at the last meeting and plans for expansion of the club were outlined.

Emmett Backenstoe is the president; Harold Gorman, the vice president; Miss Beverly Gorton, the secretary and Robert Sanderson the treasurer.

Other charter members are Mrs. N. M. Reiff, Mrs. John Sagar, Mrs. Jean Perrill, Jim Liso, Bob Wise, Eddie Kirk, Francis Rowe, Melvin Williams, Eddie Corzatt, Virgil Hargman, Karl Gorman and Ray Fanning.

Only The Beginning
Miss Gorton, the secretary and one of the moving spirits in the organization, said "this is only the beginning...we expect to have a lot more members before the autumn riding season is over."

The secretary said no particular effort had been made yet to spread around the word of the formation of the new club. It is just the nucleus of a much broader and bigger organization, she added.

After the club's next meeting, its members are to go out and enlist others. A larger feminine contingent is one of the objectives. The dues, which are collected only to cover incidental expenses, are $2 a year.

For the 16 club members, there are 16 horses. Two of them have no horses, but a love of riding; two others have two horses.

Meetings are to be held the second week of each month, under tentative plans.

Ride Set For Aug. 21
A week from next Sunday, Aug. 21, the club is to gather for a ride through the countryside that is to wind up at the Williams home on the Zimmerman Road. There, the club is to have a wiener roast and ride back to headquarters before darkness settles down.

Arrangements have been made with the grounds committee of the Fair Board to establish club headquarters at the Fairground. Still nebulous plans call for taking away from the barns farthest from the harness horse training activities. Members can arrange to keep their horses there with a caretaker or two for them, the secretary said.

Because crowded and paved highways and the race track are not considered ideal places for horseback riding, the club has plans for laying out bridle paths over the 50-acre Fairground. This plan, officers of the club believe, will be the answer, too, for the less experienced and more timid riders.

The secretary said no time would be lost in getting activities—namely riding—started.

For the serving of a dessert course at seven o'clock the guests were seated at small tables appointed in the bridal motif.

The diversion of the evening was bridge with four tables in progress.

Bowlers Gather To Form Fall Leagues

Unzip the bowling bag and limber up those fingers, because the season is almost on us.

Bowling enthusiasts are expected to congregate about 8:30 P. M. Monday at the Bowland Alleys on the CCC Highway to set up the pins for the city bowling leagues.

Eastern field representative Richard T. McMaster of the ABC advised Andy Loudner, manager of the alleys, that he would be present.

McMaster sent word from Milwaukee that he would be bringing motion pictures of top-flight bowlers in action.

Loudner expects to throw open his alleys to the up and coming "Andy Varipapas" on September 1.

He anticipates playing host to about 10 leagues this fall, a total of about 80 teams with eight teams to a loop.

League play will probably open somewhere around September 19.

MARION MOTHER LOST 45 LBS. WITH RENNEL

"Rennel has done wonders for me," writes Mrs. Roy Stapleton, 378 Avondale Ave., Marion, Ohio. "Since taking Rennel I have lost 45 lbs. in a little over four months. My dress size has changed from 48 to 20. I am 27 years of age, and the mother of four children. That means a lot of walking to watch the children, which was tedious work. But not any more, for I am lighter on my feet and feel fine." It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blubber disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

County At New All
Time High Mark

Not only has highway vacation travel through Fayette County been the greatest on record this year, but the American Automobile Association reports that tourists, who got off to a slow start early this year, have been making up during the summer months, and will exceed all previous records in the nation.

An amazingly large amount of tourist traffic has poured through this city and county, and will continue for many weeks, and a great many Fayette countians have been among the motorists to other points, many of them distant, this summer, with more going deeper into the western states than ever before.

In a mid-season touring survey, the A. A. A. said that practically all sections of the country appear to be enjoying the highest rate of travel patronage in history.

"In fact, there appears to be no signs of recession anywhere on the automotive front," declared Russell E. Singer, Washington, D. C., executive vice-president of the A. A. A. "New car sales continue at high levels. Gasoline consumption is running 5 percent above last year's record volume. Membership in A. A. A. clubs continues to show consistent gains, increasing during the first six months of this year by 10.3 percent over the comparable period of 1948, bringing the total at the end of June to the all-time high figure of 2,653,361. Affiliated clubs report that the number of routings prepared for members is running 10 to 20 percent above last year. Here at A. A. A. National Headquarters we've had to go back to press on five of our major travel publications because of unprecedented demand."

Among the factors pointing to an unprecedented volume of travel the A. A. A. cited the following:

During the first six months of this year, a total of 16,651,097 visitors were counted at the national parks and other areas administered by the National Park Service; this was an increase of 13 percent higher than during the same period of 1948—the previous record year.

There is a growing volume of off-season travel to areas usually regarded as winter resorts: Florida, in particular, is reporting a large volume of summer patronage.

An increase of 7 percent was noted in the number of people staying at New England vacation lodging places during June as compared with the comparable month last year; the volume of expenditures showed a gain of 3 percent.

Travel over the borders is at a high level. During the first half of 1949 a total of 572,743 passenger cars entered Canada for a stay of more than 48 hours, an increase of 13.6 percent over the number recorded during the similar period of last year. The number of cars crossing into Mexico at Laredo, Texas, during the first 5 months of this year was a gain of 6 percent over the period in 1948. In addition, many travelers entered Mexico through a new gateway at Brownsville, Texas.

Son is Being Held For Mother's Death

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11—(AP)—Battling back an angry crowd of about 150 persons, police early today took a 24-year-old air force member into custody for questioning in the killing of his widowed mother.

William Bucarich, 24, home on leave from the air force, was covered with blood and in tears when police arrested him on the stairway leading to his second-floor apartment home.

Neighbors a short time before had found his mother, Mrs. Mary Bucarich, 49, dying of a revolver bullet wound near her heart.

Police Lt. Jack Dudek said Bucarich claimed his revolver went off accidentally while he was showing it to his mother. The neighbors told Dudek they heard the young man quarreling with the widow just before the shot was fired.

Charges against Bucarich were delayed pending further questioning.

Teacher Shortage In Ohio Is Easing

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11—(AP)—For the first time since pre-war days Ohio high schools will have an adequate number of teachers. But elementary schools may have to suffer through a teacher shortage for several more years.

That was the report yesterday of Clyde Hissong, state superintendent of public instruction.

Hissong yesterday said some 3,280 new high school teachers have been issued teaching certificates by Harold J. Bowers, supervisor of teacher education and certification.

The number of new teachers

The Record-Herald Thursday, Aug. 11, 1949 11
Washington C. H., Ohio

exceeds the previous high set in 1946 by 500, Hissong reported.

He said the adequate supply of new teachers was due to the rec-rd number who were graduated from Ohio colleges this summer.

Be a Friend of the Land

BY JONATHAN FORMAN, M. D.
(Vice president of Friends of the Land and editor of The Land Letter)
It is the goal of Friends of the Land, and I think it is to the interest of bankers and businessmen, to stop the loss of soil by erosion and to increase the productivity of the land.

There are many approaches to this subject... the horror or scare technique—pointing out that with increasing population and continuously depleting soils, starvation impends. Then there is the ethical appeal to the sense of responsibility and stewardship of the land. I have tried both of these, and they do create interest, but to be really effective, I believe we must put all our emphasis on the fact that soil conservation pays big dividends and reasonably promptly.

As Chester Davis, president of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank and chairman of the board of directors of Friends of the Land, puts it:

"Farmers have to live and educate their children on what they produce on the soil. Bankers are custodians of other people's money. It takes more than a general appeal for the welfare of future generations to move them. Before the farmer adopts, and before the banker lends money on a complete water and soil management program, both must be convinced that the returns from such an investment will more than repay the costs. Furthermore, the profit must be realized within a very few years."

This is just what such programs do, and that is why Friends of the Land are busy telling America that soil and water conservation pays cash dividends.

Farmer Killed In Family Row

ATHENS, Aug. 11—(P)—Lewis Meeks, a 60-year-old farmer, was shot to death last night in a family fight in the Broadwell community, 13 miles east of here.

Donald Meeks, 13-year-old nephew of the victim, was jailed for questioning.

Sheriff George Bateman reported this account of the shooting: A roadside fist fight developed from a quarrel over property.

Carl Meeks, father of Donald, was fighting with Lewis Meeks and Lewis' son Harold.

Carl gave his 32 caliber pistol to Donald and asked him to hold the weapon until the fight ended.

The son Donald apparently became excited and fired one shot, over the hood of an automobile. The bullet struck Lewis Meeks in the mouth and he died 30 minutes later.

Coroner John H. Elias gave a verdict of homicide.

Uncle Sam produced $3,062,000, 000 board feet of lumber in 1946.

Overcharges To Be Investigated

Illegal Rents To Be Probed Here

Landlords who have been assessing tenants with overcharges faced a crackdown today from the members of the rent advisory board in this area.

Gene Smith, rent control field representative in this district, said today the board plans to make investigations for cases of unauthorized rent increases during the next two weeks.

Smith emphasized that while this community has a fairly clean bill in this department there are several cases of overcharges here.

Two such cases were turned up early Wednesday when Smith conducted a weekly hearing of complaints from both landlords and tenants at the National Guard Armory.

"We can't always find the cases... unless tenants come in and tell us about them," Smith said.

He said tenants could find out whether or not they were paying rents more than the established ceilings by inquiring from neighbors what previous occupants of their homes or apartments paid.

Landlords should have certification from the government as to what rents should be charged, but Smith said some of the landlords had mislabeled the certifications.

Where there is evidence of overcharges, the board will make investigations and confront landlords with their violations. If there is need, the board will bring suit against violators, Smith said.

He said the board has not had to bring suit against any renters as yet but it has effected several out-of-court settlements between landlords and renters.

The following men are members of the rent advisory board: George Campbell, Frank Thatcher, Fred Rost, Bernard Witherston, Earl Dunaway and Smith.

The rent control office hours are from 9 A. M. until 12 noon each Wednesday in the Armory.

LATEST entrant in the race for the "Miss America" title at Atlantic City, N. J., is Flora Jane Sleeper, Laconia, N. H. A statewide vote found her in first place as "Miss New Hampshire." She has stage ambitions. (International)

Miss Tilly, Long Shot, Wins Hambletonian in 2:01:2

By JOHN CHANDLER
GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 11—(AP)—A former trap-shooting star, a veteran trainer-driver and a patient groom—especially the groom—were taking the bows today for Miss Tilly, sensational winner of the 24th Hambletonian.

Fred Egan, the Lexington, Ky., harness horse veteran who drove Miss Tilly to victory in suc-sive heats in yesterday's $69,791 trotting classic at Good Time Park, gave most of the credit to his groom.

The owner, Charles W. Phellis of Greenwich, Conn., was so jubilant he could say little except shower praise on his stable workers.

Egan, trainer for Phellis for more than a quarter of a century,

Top Teams Bunched as DP&L, Armbrust Win

A rejuvenated Armbrust team smashed out its third straight win in taking the opener from the Welding School, 6-2, last night at Wilson Field.

J. Reno blanked the VFW as DP&L took undisputed possession of fourth place with their 4 to 0 victory.

Armbrust has suddenly come to life late in the season as they kept intact a winning streak that started out to include the Welders in the first inning.

Armbrust kept the 1-0 read until the third when the Welders scored to tie it up.

Pushing around two more tallies in the fourth, the Armbrust squad made it 3-1 but the Welding School again scored in the fifth and it was 3-2.

But the final lesson of the night came in the last frame when the winners ended the monkey business with a flurry of three runs.

O'Brien won the game but gave up two more hits than the losing pitcher, K. Self.

Patterson clubbed out a homer as one of his two hits for the evening. Pyle and Creamer each got two for four for the Welders.

Indians Top Yanks In Playoff of Tie

The Indians scalped the Yanks by 10-6 in a replay of their 2-2 tie a few days ago.

Blair was on the mound and held the Yankees to four hits while his mates piled up nine as they led all the way.

Grillot, Van Meter and Rettig hit two safeties apiece to lead the batters.

Arnold E. Robinette, Alkire and Shelton got the four hits for the Yanks.

DP&L has become a definite threat with last night's win over the VFW. It broke a fourth place tie with Heinz and is now a half-game out of third and just one game out of second-place.

The Power and Light boys turned out the lights on the Legion club by taking a two-run lead in the first inning and adding two more in the third.

The VFW club could only get four hits as they suffered their tenth loss. Seymour, Henry, Hahn and A. Conway got the safeties for the losers.

Hatfield got the only extra-base blow of the game, a triple, as no hitter got more than one safety. Conway struck out seven to Reno's five but his team failed in the clutch.

Heinz could tie up the fourth-place berth tonight by winning over Homer Lawson in the opener of the doubleheader that brings the Sabina Merchants here to face Universal.

Girls Teams Play In Friday Feature

Another game between two teams of girls will provide the curtain raiser for Friday night's double feature softball card at Wilson Field.

The second game will bring together the X-town Sportsmen, a Xenia team, and the Lawson Legion post outfit. The X-towners are currently tied for the lead in the Xenia Softball League race.

The Lawson Legionnaires have had so-so success in the Recreation League here, playing spectacularly at times to beat some of the best teams in the loop.

For the opening game, the girls representing Lang's Chevrolet are to come from Xenia to take on the Washington C. H. girls.

The WCH team has a record for the season thus far of three wins and three losses. Its latest success was an 18-2 triumph over the DP&L girls team from Dayton.

No admission is to be charged, but a contribution is expected at the gate. After expenses are paid, the proceeds go into the recreation fund to augment the meager $1,800 that comes from the two-tenths of a mill tax.

Rose Avenue Wins In Near No-Hitter

Boggs broke more than a few hearts yesterday as he singled with two out in the last inning to ruin Robinette's bid for a no-hit game.

But Rose Avenue had as their consolation their winning streak, which they extended to the 11-4 whipping of Sunnyside.

Rose Avenue scored in every inning except that fateful last when Sunnyside came to bat, ten runs behind, and refused to give up. The losers' satisfaction came on what was expected to be the last out when Boggs, their pitcher, broke up the no-hitter.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

FANNY LAID her hand on Marvell's arm. "Excited?" she asked. "They look so charming, the usher, in their white dresses."

"That girl," said Marvell, "just going down the aisle, is coming on to supper with us afterwards. She's parentless, temporarily."

She was child size, under five feet, with all the self-possession of an imported china doll.

Fanny wrinkled her nose. "Poor Charles, to miss two pretty girls this evening."

"He's probably met twenty by now," said Marvell, not giving a thought to Charles who was on his way, student class, across the Atlantic.

"This man that's coming," Marvell went on in a low voice, "may be late. His car is on its last legs and he couldn't leave with me. You'll like him, I think."

The lights blinked uncertainly. There was a ripple of agitation among the audience. Then the orchestra began a fidgety waltz. "Kit asked him to even out the party—a male for Nancy."

"Oh?" Fanny tapped her fingers on the program. "Surely between them, they must know one Harvard boy."

"They are a little above that," he said. "I think she sold Nancy the proposition that he was a fascinating older man."

It will be such fun for them to have an after-theatre supper," said Fanny, "with nothing but 'fascinating older men.' She gave an amused glance at Ben's shining bald head."

Marvell turned back to the program. What a choice for these kids, he thought. The sets alone, from the drawing room to the moorland, must have taxed their ingenuity. Kit had been tremendously pleased with the wind machine they had rented. If the choice of plays was not hers, and the selection was made by a democratic majority, certainly hers was the highest enthusiasm and the leading part. He could hear her up in her room now, observing to her image in the mirror, "Portrait of a governess, disconnected, poor and plain."

The program fell in his lap—his thoughts wandered at random. He could not get it out of his head that the empty seat beside him was his. That just before the curtain went up he would watch himself slip in, with a half-cocky, half-apologetic expression, and that Proctor, sitting where Ben sat now, all the more formal and faultless in evening clothes, would look coldly at him, meaning by that glance to say "I see you managed to spare us the evening, unfortunately." He flinched even now at his unfriendliness and made an involuntary gesture of reaching for his wife's hand. His movement, attracted Fanny who bent her head and whispered, "I feel just as smug and proud as the rest of the audience!"

He did not hear her nor take his eyes off the small stage, the stage that was barely large enough for Kit's winged heels, for her clear voice that carried so well, for her talent that had grown enough to need the equal talents of other players to create a finished performance bigger than herself. Beyond that curtain lay her success or failure, not of this night only, but the whole time to come, so living a thing that he accepted it unhesitatingly. It was only in looking back that he was shaken.

It was frightening to think how near to a ghost he had almost become. Had he been slipping in beside Proctor this evening, that girl on the stage who was joined almost physically to the beating of his heart under his ribs, would have been a stranger to him, allowed sight of him this one evening by her devoted uncle. Mercifully, for he could hardly bear this involuntary fantasy much longer, the lights faded and the curtain rose upon the cold and studied elegance of Mr. Rochester's drawing room.

It was a difficult play at best with awkward gaps of time and no gentle "It" of Charlotte Brontë's to cover up the incredibility of the plot. But in one thing, the choice had wisdom, Marvell noted. The appeal of the story was the same at the players'. They could carry the awkwardness of emotion and conform out of their limited experience to the unworldly imagination of the author's. The spirit of the play and players matched.

At the end of the first act, the audience blinked and stretched in nervous relief. A few men edged out to smoke. Fanny had not yet come. Ben and Fanny were enthusiastic about Kit, although Ben thought Rochester kept his chin too much in his stock. "She has real spirit," he whispered hoarsely to Marvell.

"Too much, perhaps. I think she's building up too fast for the end. It is a burden, of course, carrying a long part like that!"

Fanny laughed. "Don't be so impartial. Relax and just admire as you're bursting to do!"

When Fanny finally arrived, just after the beginning of the second act, Marvell barely nodded to him. Why should he have accepted Kit's invitation? It was a busy time of year for him to take a night off, he thought unreasonably, and his car was too wobbly to have attempted the trip.

In the last intermission, Fanny stood up, awkwardly bunching up his light coat, to be introduced to Fanny and Ben. He moved to Marvell. "The car gave trouble when I got near Belmont." There was a greasy smear on his wrist, just below his stiff cuff, to corroborate this fact. "I'll have to clean up later," he grinned at Marvell. But Marvell was curt and indifferent. Tonight he wanted perfection, not the intrusion of petty difficulties, least of all Furse's.

The progress of the play was uneven, at times perversely stationary, then moving forward in a single well-turned phrase or action. There was one point—Jane's wandering on the moor before finding the refuge of St. John—when Marvell was terrified lest the whole thing die on its feet. But at last, like a ship skimming into harbor, the sails slack, all hands watchful but relieved, they finished the course. The audience cheered loudly. The cast took its calls gratefully and Marvell's party burned their hands with clapping.

In the bustle of disbanding ranks, Marvell was confused and strangely tired. Furse said hopefully, "My car goes now, at any rate; whom may I take over to the hotel?"

Before he could speak, Marvell felt a light touch on his arm. It was Nancy, her small heart-shaped face enameled with sophisticated makeup. "Mr. Comes, will you and your guests wait in the lobby for just a few minutes? Kit won't be long; I am going to help her change."

With fleetness she acknowledged the introductions of Marvell about whom she had heard a good deal. She had a natural curiosity about fathers. She had already had three, and her mother's recent marriage in Paris had just added a fourth.

The lobby where they waited was bare of photographs and announcements of coming attractions. A few cigarette stubs and crumpled programs brought them a little nearer to the reality of the professional theatre world. Fanny skillfully maneuvered Furse and Ben into some kind of conversation. Marvell stood apart, smoking. Once he had imagined Kit waiting for him in hotel lobbies and railway stations. Now it was he who would wait for her in front of drafty box offices, at dingy stage doors. She had come through, he thought triumphantly. Nothing could deflect her now. When he saw her walk in, her white dress heightening the color in her face, he could not take a step forward to welcome her, for the sudden shyness that overwhelmed him. Behind her, on tiptoe, Nancy bobbed up and down like a cork on the swell of Kit's excitement.

Work Proceeds On Methodist Basement

Congregation to Hold
First Services In Three Weeks in Church

Members of the Grace Methodist Church will resume holding church at their place of worship Sunday although an extensive renovation program is still underway in the church basement.

For the past three weeks the congregation has been the guests of the Presbyterian Church. Beginning Sunday members of the Presbyterian church will be the guests of the Methodists for three successive Sundays.

Meantime work continues on the Grace Methodist Church basement, which is undergoing a complete renovation.

Completely new flooring, new wiring, new walls, plumbing fixtures, new partitions and other innovations are being constructed or installed in the basement.

Last fall a new automatic heating system, operated by thermostats, was installed in the church.

Complete cost of the improvement program is estimated at the present time at $37,500. This figure includes the contractor's price of $30,300, architect fees, the cost of the special wiring, reconversion of the heating system and incidentals.

Making Good Headway

While considerable work remains, the men are making good headway.

They have taken out old wiring, leaky soil lines, cut additional exits to the basement, laid some of the concrete floor base, and started working on the masonry for the walls.

A large force of workers is handling the big job. Church members are hopeful that they will have their work completed within the next three months.

The renovation program will make it possible for the church to better accommodate its youngsters during Sunday School. The east side of the basement will be used by the youngsters.

Removable partitions will separate the youngsters by age groups into Sunday School classrooms. Some five or six classrooms will be added. It will be possible for the partitions to be taken down and the east side of the basement turned into an assembly room.

Fellowship Hall Planned

On the west side of the basement a fellowship or banquet room will be constructed by the workers and a thoroughly modern kitchen laid out. Other rooms are planned to serve the varied needs of the big congregation.

Need for some improvements in the church basement was pointed out to officials of the church in June, 1948 and action started to have plans drawn up.

Work on the basement improvements started about three weeks ago and is continuing at a good clip.

Members of the church are frequently poking their heads into the windows of the church basement to see how work is progressing.

Officials of the church are hopeful that their plans for a modern, safe, fireproofed basement are realized to the satisfaction of the congregation.

Brown, Hilty Attended Forum

Reports Given On School Money Bills

Supt. Stephen Brown, of the city schools and Supt. William J. Hilty, of the county schools, have returned from the Columbus meeting called by the State Board of Education.

The forum was held to bring school administrators in Ohio up-to-date on recent legislation affecting them.

According to Brown, the forum was called to order and introductory remarks were made by Dr. Clyde Hissong, director of the state department of education.

Dr. Hissong was recently reappointed to the director's post by Governor Lausche to serve four more years.

Reports were given in turn by the various state department heads.

Since he was absent, Dr. Hissong read the report of Joseph Strobel, head of vocational trades and industry.

It said his department is slated for $1,171,000 in federal aid for next year. The state will add $450,000.

The auto mechanics class at Washington C. H. High School is made possible by this financial appropriation, part of which is allocated to the city school system.

Wade D. Busn, head of the public school lunch program, said that 1,270 schools participated in the lunch program last year.

Since $2,239,313 has been allotted his department, an increase of more than $168,000 over last year, about 85 more schools will be included in the lunch program.

He added that the schools to be included for the first time this year will be admitted to the program on the basis of need and necessity.

The legislature also earmarked $3,000,000 for the rehabilitation of schools, reported E. J. Arnold, supervisor of that department.

He said the same policy will be continued in helping no school unless the school had less than $6,000 behind each student. But the school must be getting a six-mill operating levy outside the ten.

Howard J. Bowers, head of the certification department, revealed that 754 temporary teaching certificates have been issued, with that total expected to double.

He said he wrote to each college in the state, requesting a list of those graduates of schools of education who have not yet been placed this year.

There is a scarcity of elementary school teachers, he said. However, there is a sufficient number of secondary school teachers.

The picture is brighter where the supply of high-school teachers is concerned. There are 749 of them available, some of whom will be absorbed into the school system before next month.

R. M. Eymann, assistant director of education, and Earl C. Welshmer, transportation head, jointly reported that their appropriation amounted to $3,500,000 for the next two-year period.

Robert L. Rohe, head of the finance division, spoke on the school legislation as it affected finances and dwelt on the board and operating levies.

There was also a report on the schooling of handicapped children, given by Mrs. Hazel McIntyre, head of special education. Brown said the forum was very well attended.

been doing all summer at the playgrounds, Pierson explained.

Merchants are being counted on to come through with some merchandise prizes. Some already have sent word to the director that they have theirs ready and waiting to be picked up.

Countywide Event

The parade is open to boys and girls all over the county—just as have been the playgrounds. Pierson stressed this as he outlined the plans and expressed the hope that they would get in it.

Just so there will be no disappointments when the prizes are awarded, Pierson said he was arranging to have a present for all of the boys and girls, probably a popcicle.

The parade is to form at about 6:30 P. M. on Temple Street beside
